Abstract:

The 1984 Summer Olympics, officially known as the Games of the XXIII Olympiad, were held in Los Angeles, California from July 28 to August 12, 1984. The collection cover the pre-Games planning stages; materials produced during the Games and a small number of items after the Games concluded. Includes announcements, ephemera, exhibit catalogs, financial reports, guides, programs, serials, and other printed matter. Also slides and a small number of photographs. The main publishers were the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee (LAOOC); corporate sponsor, First Interstate Bank; and the newspaper, Los Angeles Times. Also records collected by the Natural History Museum (NHM) stemming from its role on the Los Angeles County Host Committee and as a Host Hospitality Center at Exposition Park.

Historical Note

The city of Los Angeles first hosted the 1932 Summer Games for the Xth Olympiad. NHM (then called the Los Angeles County Museum of History, Science and Art) provided the venue for the Olympic Art Exhibition or International Art Exhibition under the auspices of the American Federation of Arts.

In 1984 for the XXIIIth Olympiad in Los Angeles, like in 1932, an Olympic Arts Festival was held concurrent to the Games. NHM's participated in the Olympic Arts Festival through a three-prong exhibition covering a revisit of the 1932 Games, the Great Depression and cars of 1932. The three exhibits were the Xth Olympiad (Los Angeles, 1932); the Automobile in '32; and U.S.A. – 1932. (For more information, see TERRA, the Members' Magazine of the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County and the Page Museum of La Brea Discoveries, vol. 22, no. 5, May/June 1984).

The following year NHM held the 1984 Olympics Retrospective Exhibit. It ran from August 15 through November 17, 1985 and extended to January 6, 1986. (For more information, see TERRA, the Members' Magazine of the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County and the Page Museum of La Brea Discoveries, vol. 23, no. 6, July/August 1985).

Scope and Content:

The 1984 Summer Olympics, officially known as the Games of the XXIII Olympiad, were held in Los Angeles, California from July 28 to August 12, 1984. The collection cover the pre-Games planning stages; materials produced during the Games and a small number of items after the Games concluded. Includes announcements, ephemera, exhibit catalogs, financial reports, guides, programs, serials, and other printed matter. Also slides and a small number of photographs. The main publishers were the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee (LAOOC); corporate sponsor, First Interstate Bank; and the newspaper, Los Angeles Times. Also records collected by the Natural History Museum (NHM) stemming from its role on the Los Angeles County Host Committee and as a Host Hospitality Center at Exposition Park.

In addition to printed matter, the collection holds actual ephemeral items imprinted with Olympics-related advertisements such as bumper stickers, buttons, labels, grocery bags, napkins, and place mats.

Serial publications include those generated by the LAOOC to inform LAOOC staff, government officials, and the local neighborhoods affected by the activities of the Games.

Among the materials concerning the pre-Games planning, noteworthy are items about the promotion “Play a Part in History” designed to generate interest, volunteering and staff recruitment.
