Dear Los Angeles County Supervisors:

On behalf of the Academy Museum of Motion Pictures, I am pleased to write in support of the plan to reimagine La Brea Tar Pits.

The Academy Museum celebrates La Brea Tar Pits' role as part of the fabric of Los Angeles' history and appreciates the Natural History Museums of Los Angeles County's stewardship in preserving this scientific resource while also conducting new research and engaging the public in scientific discovery and history.

The project before you aligns with the Academy Museum's goal to foster public education and curiosity through storytelling and active interaction with history and greatly enhances opportunities for innovative ways to connect with our past. We are glad to see that our neighbors and colleagues have reached this important step in moving forward with the Master Plan and we celebrate this progress.

Reimagining La Brea Tar Pits will strengthen Los Angeles' role as a global hub for culture, science, education, and history, benefitting residents, tourists, and all of us on Museum Row alike.

We are proud to be neighbors of La Brea Tar Pits and encourage you to support this plan.

Sincerely,

Amy Homma
Director and President of the Academy Museum of Motion Pictures
