Museum of Natural History

Abstract:

An artificial collection of newspapers published from throughout the United States in English, and also papers in other languages. The strength of the collection is for southern California and Los Angeles area papers. Also a very small number of foreign titles. Late 1700s – 1992, undated (bulk is 1850s – 1890s)

Related Holdings:

GC-1137 Political Materials Collection (holdings of political newspapers)

Administrative Note:

The newspaper collection underwent a major deaccession process and was completed in April, 2025. Holdings that were inventoried decades ago and shown at the California Newspaper Project (CNP) website <http://cnp.ucr.edu/> are now out of date. (A search for Natural History Museum holdings at the Seaver Center can be filtered by typing in the institution field the following: "LA Natural History Museum.")

Likewise, microfilm has also been weeded. Many damaged reels have been discarded, but reels still remain that require future assessment for condition. Select reels have been transferred to the Center for Bibliographical Studies and Research at the University of California, Riverside. The Seaver Center no longer have reader/printer equipment to view microfilm.

During the deaccession process, titles for withdrawal or rehoming to other institutions were gathered into working lists named GC-1313.1 and GC-1313.3. (The list GC-1313.3 is not available.) The holdings of newspapers retained are found in three lists: GC 1313, GC-1313.2 and GC-1313.4 (microfilm).

Scope and Content:

An artificial collection of newspapers published from throughout the United States in English, and also papers in other languages. The strength of the collection is for southern California and Los Angeles area papers. Also a very small number of foreign titles. Late 1700s – 1992, undated (bulk is 1850s – 1890s)

Loose issues, incomplete runs, and bound volumes, including rare titles for Los Angeles city and county, including the Los Angeles Star. Also noteworthy in the collection are two issues (1888) of the first Black newspaper from southern California, the Weekly Observer. Some newspaper issues have been retained for events such as the American Civil War, the San Francisco Earthquake and Fire (1906), and the World Wars. An English language paper published in Ensenada, Mexico, was Lower Californian.

Four (4) lists are available and attached:

- GC-1313 contains RETAINED newspaper holdings
- GC-1313.2 contains additional, major portion of RETAINED newspaper holdings
- GC-1313.4 contains MICROFILM holdings and status
- GC-1313.1 contains CNP titles WITHDRAWN or Rehomed to other institutions
- GC-1313.1 contains additional titles WITHDRAWN or Rehomed to other institutions

Los Angeles County (Calif.) 19th-20th c.	11	1	La Cronica	1974	Claremont, Calif.; Robert A. Miller in association with Chicano Studies Center, Claremont Colleges; Teaching--Aids and devices. Newspapers in education. Educational publication designed to look like a newspaper from October, 1848. Published in 1974, but draws on newspapers from the nineteenth-century U.S. for content. One issue in a series of nine. Issue covers the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, Indian nations, Mexican rights, the Santa Fe Expeditoin, California battles, the New Mexico revolt, and the discovery of gold. Publication is a result of the Chicano Movement of the late 1960s and 1970s and the push for a Chicano Studies and Ethnic Studies curriculum in secondary schools and universities.	Spanish/En
